How to Remove a Concealed Latch

The following instructions pertain to our Powder Shield (Baked Enamel) and Stainless Steel toilet partitions when equipped with the rectangular concealed indicator latch. The following guidelines are meant to describe how to remove the latch after it has been installed.

1. Use extreme caution when removing the latch to avoid any damage to the door surface.
2. Locate the outer plate of the concealed latch on the outside surface of the door with a red or green circle in the center.

3. Carefully drill a 9/32" hole above and below the red/green "in-use" indicator. The outer faceplate should then collapse allowing you to remove it and the entire latch assembly.
